Subscription Prices (postpaid). Subscriptions are accepted on a calendar-year basis only. Subscriptions are payable in US currency or full equivalent. Subscriptions from outside the United States are for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided超越 that permitted by sections 107 and 108 of the US Copyright Law—unless the copies are for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided that the copies are not for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided that the copies are not for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided that the copies are not for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided that the copies are not for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided that the codes at the bottom of the first page of an article indicate the copyright owner's consent that copies of that article may be made beyond that permitted by sections 107 and 108 of the US Copyright Law—unless the copies are for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided that the copies are not for general distribution, for advertising, for creating new works, or for resale—provided that the codes at the bottom of the first page of an article indicate the copyright owner's consent that copies of that article may be made beyond that permitted by sections 107 and 108 of the US Copyright Law—unless the codes at the bottom of the first page of an article indicate the copyright owner's consent that copies of that article may be made.